DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Zegarra.

Zegarra discloses in the Figures and in column 6, line 36 to column 7, line 67 a device comprising a common use article (1) having visible surfaces, transparent windows (42-45) thereon, and a pocket (2-5) carried behind each window. Zegarra further discloses in column 5, lines 9-13 that a plurality of cards are held and displayed by the pockets such that representations thereon are visible to the user.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 2 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Zegarra.

Zegarra discloses the apparatus of claim 2, as discussed above. Zegarra fails to explicitly disclose the specific steps of repetitively observing a card through a window, and replacing the card with another card and repeating the process. However, Zegarra does disclose the use a plurality of flash cards to help a user study some concept. Official Notice is taken that it is well known to repetitively view study aids such as flash cards, and that it is well known to replace such cards as desired. These steps are obvious, in light of the teachings of Zegarra, which is explicitly directed to a study aid device.

Art Unit: 3712

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed on September 9, 2004 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. The amendments to the claims do not overcome the Zegarra reference. A cereal box is portable, in that it is customarily moved from the kitchen to the table during meals or snacks; and is a personal use article. It is not clear how "personal use" would be defined, but clearly a cereal box is not designed for public use or business use. Eating meals and snacks are normal activities; and a user would have occasion to observe multiple times a cereal box sitting on the table during such meals and snacks. Zegarra discusses at column 1, lines 31-46 and at column 2, lines 58-66 the motivation and purpose for providing a study aid which can be used with or as part of other normal activities. In particular, column 2, lines 62-64 discloses the use of a study aid which "can be used with common everyday objects encountered in the home". Column 9, lines 36-45 further discloses the use of common items other than a cereal box. The claims remain rejected under the Zagarra reference.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
